INTRODUCTION

THERE is presented in the following pages a list of books, pamphlets and broadsides known to have been printed in Chicago from the first functioning of a local press through the year 1850. This compilation has been "on the fire," so to speak, for seventeen years, but in spite of this long period of simmering, I am not in position to claim for it any degree of finality. I think it unlikely, however, that any large number of additional titles will be subsequently recorded.

The list now published represents a fourth revision of a bibliography originally printed in book form in 1927 which recorded 70 Chicago imprints earlier than 1851. This and subsequently issued lists focused the interest of bibliographers and historians on the field of early Chicago printing and led to the discovery and report of more titles than were represented in the original list. The operations of the WPA's American Imprints Inventory contributed still more.

More than three times as many Chicago imprints as I could find in 1927 are described and located in the present list. Details respecting successive amplifications of the record here follow:

1. The First Printers of Chicago, with a bibliography of the issues of the Chicago press, 1836-1850. Chicago: Cu-

- neo Press, Inc. 1927. With 6 reproductions of title pages 70
2. Notes in Supplement to "The First Printers of Chicago." Chicago: Privately printed. 1931. With 3 reproductions of title pages. Contained 18 titles, of which 1 was later found not to be a Chicago imprint and 2 which were repeated from The First Printers—a net gain of. 15
3. Books and Pamphlets Printed in Chicago, 1835-1850. Bulletin of the Chicago Historical Society, v. 1, nos. 1-4, November, 1934—August, 1935, p. 9-23, 57-64, 88-100, 120-132. With 7 reproductions (3 titles pages and 4 broadsides). Contained the 85 titles from First Printers and Notes in Supplement and in addition 85

Titles previously published. 170

The present list records 232 titles, in which 43 broadsides are included. Of these, 63* (including 25 broadsides) are new. Three (nos. 32, 43, and 127), previously reported as "not located," are repeated with copies located and with adequate descriptions.

Five titles (nos. 8, 26, 48, 147, and 192) remain unlocated. Nos. 48 and 192 are quite doubtful; they are included only to continue the record of titles previously published. The imprints may be classified by subject as follows:

	TITLES
Addresses, orations, speeches	22
Sermons, religious discourses	14
Lectures	6
	<hr/> 42
Almanacs	16
Chicago:
Business, industry, professions, trades (including 7 broadsides of beginning of the reaper industry)	19
Official publications	10
Local organizations	10
Directories	9
Newspapers (prospectuses, etc.)	5

*No. 105 in the Bulletin list (no. [10] in the Supplement) was found to comprise 3 titles—a count of 2 new titles.

Concerts	2	55
Educational institutions	5
Medical colleges	10	15
Illinois court decisions	4
Fraternal organizations	10
Harbor and River Convention (1847)	6
Legal arguments	3

Protestant Episcopal	1
Sunday School Union	1
Local (Chicago)	8	26
Galena and Chicago Union Railroad	8
Great Western Railroad	1
Illinois and Michigan Canal	14	23
Travel and description	3
Miscellaneous (not classified) including the first Chi- cago lampoon (no. 62), Mrs. Juliette Kinzie's Narrative of the Massacre at Chicago (no. 75), a volume of Catholic devotions (no. 82), a Galena directory (no. 115), two works on farriery (nos. 147 and 176), a lawyers' form book (no. 195), Edward Bonney's Banditti of the Prairies , 1st edi- tion (no. 200), Henry A. Clarke's War Scout of 1812 (no. 207), and a Ready Reckoner (no. 211)	22

The issues of the Chicago press are significant historically because they reflect the cultural, spiritual, and business interests and activities of one of the world's great cities during its infancy. The beginnings of railroads, of the agricultural machinery industry, and of other businesses which have contributed to the growth and prosperity of this great metropolis are here recorded in printed documents. And the religious, educational, cultural and legal interests and activities of the fast-growing community are likewise adequately represented in the record.

A bibliography such as this is not the product of effort by one or two men, but constitutes a cumulation of contributions by hundreds of bibliographers, historians and collectors. My obligations for assistance over the years of bibliographical gestation of this list are too numerous to specify. I desire particularly, however, to acknowledge the interest and cooperation in many ways of the authorities and staff of the Chicago Historical Society. Among institutions whose assistance has proved helpful are the New York Public Library, the Henry E. Huntington Library, the Library of Congress, the Harvard College Library, the Illinois State Historical Library, and the Wisconsin Historical Society.

Among the individual collectors who have contributed largely to the completion of this list are Thomas W. Streeter, Everett Graff, Lawrence Dicke, and the late George Paullin.

Most important has been the cooperation, over many years, of my associate Albert H. Allen, who has played a major role in the compilation and editing of this list. To him I make grateful acknowledgment for his able and painstaking work.

To place this bibliography in its proper perspective, we may recall that the first printing in Chicago was done by John Calhoun. A native of Watertown, N. Y., with several years' experience as a printer on various newspapers in the state of New York, Calhoun arrived late in the fall of 1833 at the swampy little settlement on the Chicago River. Here, on November 26, 1833, he produced the first issue of the future city's first newspaper, the Chicago Democrat. Calhoun sold the Democrat in 1836 and thereafter is no longer known as a printer. Except for issues of his newspaper, Calhoun's name as a printer does not appear on any extant product of the early Chicago press.

The second printer to function independently at Chicago was Thomas O. Davis, of whose antecedents I as yet know nothing.

On June 8, 1835, he began publication of Chicago's second newspaper, the Chicago American. The typographic signature of Davis appears on the first three items in the following list, as well as on others until 1837, when the American passed into other hands.

Also within the first five years of Chicago printing, Edward H. Rudd made his first appearance in 1837. For records of other printers who began work at Chicago before 1851, the reader is referred to the Index of Chicago Printers, Publishers, and Booksellers on pages 101-105.

The step-up in activity of the press is seen in the number of imprints produced respectively in the following years:

YEAR	IMPRINTS	YEAR	IMPRINTS
1835	5	1843	16
1836	7	1844	15
1837	9	1845	12
1838	2	1846	12
1839	6	1847	29
1840	8	1848	33
1841	10	1849	31
1842	6	1850	31

I shall still appreciate report of new titles or locations of early Chicago imprints, even though I do not now feel disposed to promise any future edition of this list.

32 x 24 cm. Broadside.

This auction was an incident of the canal-land boom at Chicago in the years 1834 to 1836. "Germantown" cannot now be identified. Augustus Garrett, who became mayor of Chicago in 1843-1845, held auctions in a building on Dearborn Street. A. T. Andreas, History of Chicago, p. 134-135, says: "Mr. Garrett's room was the most popular resort of the speculating crowd. During the 10 months of the year 1835 he sold $1,800,000 worth of property. The panic of 1837 stopped the land boom."

The firm of Garrett, Brown & Brother is not listed in the early Chicago directories, and no mention of this sale is to be found in contemporary Chicago newspapers. It seems probable, however, that this auction was held in 1835, the year of Garrett's greatest activity. Garrett bequeathed a large part of his estate to the Garrett Biblical Insitute, now of Evanston, Illinois. See Chicago Daily News, November 24, 1934, for an account of Garrett and of the land speculation of 1834-1836.

HINTON, ISAAC TAYLOR

A | Discourse | Delivered | in the Baptist Church, Chicago, | November 26, 1837, | By Isaac Taylor Hinton. | [Rule] | Occasioned by the Murder of the Rev. E. P. Lovejoy. | [Rule] | Chicago: | Published by B. H. Clift, at the Chicago Book Store. | [Row of dots] | 1837. [14]

14 x 21.5 cm. 14 p.

"The earliest 'Chicago Book and Stationery Store' was that of Aaron Russell, formerly of Boston, and Benjamin H. Clift, from Philadelphia, who advertised in the Democrat of August 26, 1834, that they intended opening a store of that description adjoining P. Carpenter's drug establishment, on Water Street. The partnership was dissolved October 22, 1835, and Mr. Clift announced that he would continue the business. In the American of June 18, 1836, B. H. Clift advertised law, theological, medical and miscellaneous books, stationery, and paper-hanging." (A. T. Andreas, History of Chicago, vol. 1, p. 414.)

16.5 x 24 cm. 23 p.

Differs from the ICHi and Streeter copies of this title, not only in the typography of the title page and in dimensions, but also in the composition of the text. This issue lacks the "Act supplemental to an act to incorporate the city of Chicago . . . Approved 4th March, 1837," which concludes p. 23 in the other issue, and therefore may be the earlier of the two.

there remained six blank pages. For these he set up at the case, without copy, a brief business directory of the city. This constituted, therefore, the first Chicago Directory. The last six pages consist of advertisements, one being a most interesting notice of Rudd's establishment, dated De-

The Harbor and River Convention of 1847 was the first great gathering to put Chicago "on the map" as the rallying point for the whole north-west. It was occasioned by President Polk's veto of the River and Harbor Bill in August, 1846, a bill which included an appropriation for the development of Chicago's harbor. The convention met in protest against the president's summary death-blow to Chicago's hopes of growth through harbor improvements, which thus became a political issue in the campaign of 1848 (see no. 142, below). Among the delegates to this convention were two future presidents—Millard Fillmore, from Buffalo, who was elected vice president in 1848 and became president on the death of Zachary Taylor, and Abraham Lincoln, a delegate from Sangamon County, Illinois.

Included are letters from Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, and Daniel Webster.

ONE PRICE CASH HARDWARE STORE

98 LAKE STREET,
DAVID HATCH.

Every man who studies his own interest will read the following, (and profit by it) it being the principles by which the Subscriber PLEDGES HIMSELF TO BE GOVERNED in his business, and the violation of which will in all cases be attended with the forfeiture of the article or articles purchased, viz:

On the receipt of New Goods, they are always marked at the VERY LOWEST PRICES they can be afforded for in this market, at Wholesale and at Retail, and in NO CASE will one person be charged more than another for an article of the same quality, NOR WILL THE PRICES BE VARIED, only as they vary in the markets where the Goods are purchased.

I shall always keep the different qualities of the articles I deal in; and when a customer comes into the Store he will be shown the different qualities, and the difference explained, and in all cases where the article purchased does not prove to be what it is recommended, or fails to suit the person or purpose for which was purchased, IT MAY BE RETURNED, and the purchase money will be refunded.

THE PUBLIC will readily see the advantages of patronizing such an establishment as this, as they may at all times send for any article in any line of business with the same reliance as they would attach to the purchasing of it themselves, knowing that those unacquainted with the Goods they purchase here are not liable to be cheated or deceived, OR TO GET AN ARTICLE NOT SUITED TO THEIR PURPOSE, without the privilege of returning it.

THE STOCK OF THE SUBSCRIBER IS NEARLY ALL NEW, he having just returned from Boston and New York, where he has selected from the best Stocks in those Markets, and he thinks from his long acquaintance with selling Goods in Chicago, and buying in the Eastern Markets, that he is warranted in saying THERE IS NO STOCK IN CHICAGO BETTER LAID IN THAN HIS; and, besides, he sells no Goods on credit, but EXCLUSIVELY FOR CASH, consequently he has no bad debts to be paid for by cash customers. It is evident, therefore, that he can sell Goods at SMALLER PROFITS than those who trust them out, and thereby run the risk of making bad debts. Finally, he is confident that those who buy of him once, will ALWAYS COME AGAIN, when they want to buy any thing in his line, and HE ASSURES THE PUBLIC it shall always be his endeavor to deserve their patronage.

The Store may always be found by a hanging Sign, outside the door, corresponding with the heading of this Bill, and inside Bills, &c., similar will be displayed.

Chicago, October, 1844.

D. H. is Agent for the sale of a VERY SUPERIOR ARTICLE of Platform and Counter Scales; also, of the Salamander Iron Safes, of Messrs. Adams & Whittredge make. These articles are warranted to BE EQUAL, AND IN SOME RESPECTS SUPERIOR to any others made in the United States, and they will be sold AT MANUFACTURERS' PRICES, adding expenses of transportation. Messrs. A. & W. use a new composition of their own discovery, WHICH PREVENTS ALL DAMPNESS AND MOULD collecting in their Safes, rendering them superior to any other.

C i t i z e n s o f CHICAGO, LOOK AT THIS!!

The Administration has SUSPENDED the Improvement of your HARBOR. Two weeks' more work would open it to all kinds of Craft. Van Buren says he will "follow in the footsteps" of the present Executive. So, if he is elected, our Harbor may NEVER be completed, and the interest of the WHOLE WEST will doubtless be treated with scorn and contempt. Merchants, Mechanics and Laborers, will you endure this?

CASS, LEWIS.

Gen. Cass' | Letter | to the | Harbor and River | Convention. |

M'CORMICK'S PATENT V.A. REAPER.

Chicago, 4th December, 1849.

The satisfaction given by the sale at this place, of 800 of the above Machines in 1848, and of about 1500 in 1849, which were distributed through the Wheat Growing districts of the North Western States, has been so universal as to render wholly unnecessary the publication of any certificates, or even long advertisements. Their extensive use has so triumphantly established their superiority over all others, (notwithstanding their parade of certificates,) that it is only necessary to refer the Farmers to the large number of McCormick's Reapers sold in past years and the largely increased demand for them, and to call their attention to some improvements made in those manufactured for the next Harvest.

The Improvements introduced into the Reaper for 1849, were estimated by many to have double its value and the draught to be about a horse power lighter. In addition to these, several important ones are made in the Machines manufactured for the next harvest. The change in the height of cutting can now be made in a very few minutes and with very little trouble. The fingers have been so altered in shape and position, as better to gather the grain and secure it while being cut and at the same time better to protect the sickle and facilitate the cutting, for the former wooden ground wheel, an iron one is substituted. The object of several other changes has been to perfect the Reaper: these improvements to affect its entire operation, that the warrant in the printed order for a Reaper, while in all other respects the same, is increased from one and a half as heretofore, to two acres per hour, which will be considered a sufficient endorsement of the improvements.

Some persons have been engaged in infringements of the undersigned's Patent during the past year; several such have promptly desisted on being notified; it was hoped that all would have followed their example. The undersigned now warns all, that he is resolved to prosecute every one who is making or selling Reapers which are infringements of his Patent, and in all cases as well as the makers or sellers, he will make those who purchase or use such Machines responsible, as they are equally liable with the manufacturer. Suits have been already commenced against Seymour & Morgan of Brockport N. Y., and will soon be against others.

Below will also be found some certificates of the undersigned's Mowing Machine, which will also be manufactured to order at $100 (separately), or in connection with the Reaper at $175, for both. He will add that all the Reapers for the next harvest will be so constructed, that the addition for mowing can be attached at any future time.

It remains for the undersigned only to make his acknowledgments to the farmers of the prizes for that generous confidence which he has labored diligently not to disappoint, and to say that, encouraged by the past, he is again under way in the manufacture for another year: better provided for the business than ever before, and that, with the very best material and workmanship that can be had, he is determined to produce an article for the harvest of 1850, which will be unsurpassed in the manufacture of agricultural machinery in the country; and that about 3000 of these are being manufactured to be sold on the usual terms—$115 cash, or $30 on delivery, and $90 on time, with interest, (freight added when transported,) whilst the strongest assurances have been received by agents in every direction, that the demand for the next harvest will probably be more than double that of the last, which in many places was not supplied.

In view of these things, and the additional fact that several hundred of these machines will be sent east and to territory not heretofore supplied from this place, farmers who want the Reaper may readily perceive that to delay ordering will make the uncertainty of getting one very great.

The undersigned will only add that he has purchased the interest of Messrs. Ogden & Jones, which included a second year in this business, and has associated with him Mr. O. M. Dorman of this city, under the style of C. H. McCormick & Co.

C. H. McCormick & Co.

Canaan, August 17th 1851

At the request of Mr. C. H. McCormick, we took out of the city a few miles, the whole day, as was an experiment made by him in cutting Prairie Grass with his celebrated Patent Reaper, 1500 of which have been manufactured in this city within the last year, and nearly all sold.

When we arrived at the place of our destination we found the Grass Cutter at work, cutting through the most thick grass, and upon the most uneven ground, the surface of the ground being very uneven, and with occasional very large and high hills. We were gratified however at seeing the machine in motion, turning round a sharp and turning corners readily, that its operation was complete—except when obstructed by the tall hills, (which being altogether above the height of cutting, could not be severed thereby). The operation of the machine in the most rapid manner, almost that of the platform in the field, so that the first discharge the grass was cut, and the second it was in the right condition for being speedily—thereby saving the usual expenditure of labor. The experimental machine, and the work, was done—namely by two hundred and thirty acres, driven by a man riding upon it with no other situation, and was estimated to cut from 15 to 18 acres a day. We saw no reason, however—and the answer and to us there was none—why it should not cut as wide (4 feet) and as fast as the Reaper. On lands made smooth for the use of this machine, we have the fullest confidence in its complete uniform, and therefore feel free to give our views (as decidedly to the public for what they are worth, having them from these statements to make their own estimates of the labor saved by, and value of the Mowing Machine. For ourselves we consider it quite a desideratum to the best mowing machinery.

WILLIAM B. JAMES

THOMAS FAIRBANKS

FLAX CREEK, COOK CO., Ill. Dec. 1st, 1849

I hereby certify that having obtained last fall of Mr. C. H. McCormick's Mowing Machine, we cut with it most of our crop of hay, amounting to over 100 tons, and that it executed our expectations, cutting heavy weeds, and on rough ground than we supposed it possible for a machine to work on, and that its operation was so complete on available ground as that of the Victory Reaper, or, which we have used for the past three years, and which being now well known, we deem it unnecessary to say anything more of the Mowing Machine. We therefore take pleasure in recommending this Machine to the buyers of the West as a labor saving machine, accomplishing the cutting of grass at one third of the ordinary expense.
